

Carriage

Evotec's Carriage division will assess your telecommunications requirements and design a solution that brings you real business benefits, with the support of Telstra, Australia's leading telecommunications carrier.

Carriage Expertise

As the number of competing telecommunication carriers increases, it is often difficult for an organisation to ensure it has the optimum combination of communication services. They must be cost effective, yet meet complex business requirements. Evotec's carriage division specialises in the assesment, design, provisioning and account management of an organisations Carriage services.

Our expertise across Telstra's portfolio is diverse. Your business may take advantage of voice and data expertise in a single organisation.

Fixed Voice

We will complete a complimentary analysis of your voice communication costs and subsequently identify a plan that optimises your investment

Mobile Telephony

We will ensure you take advantage of competitive call rates and flexible plans, while enjoying the reliability of Australia's leading mobile network

Wireless Data

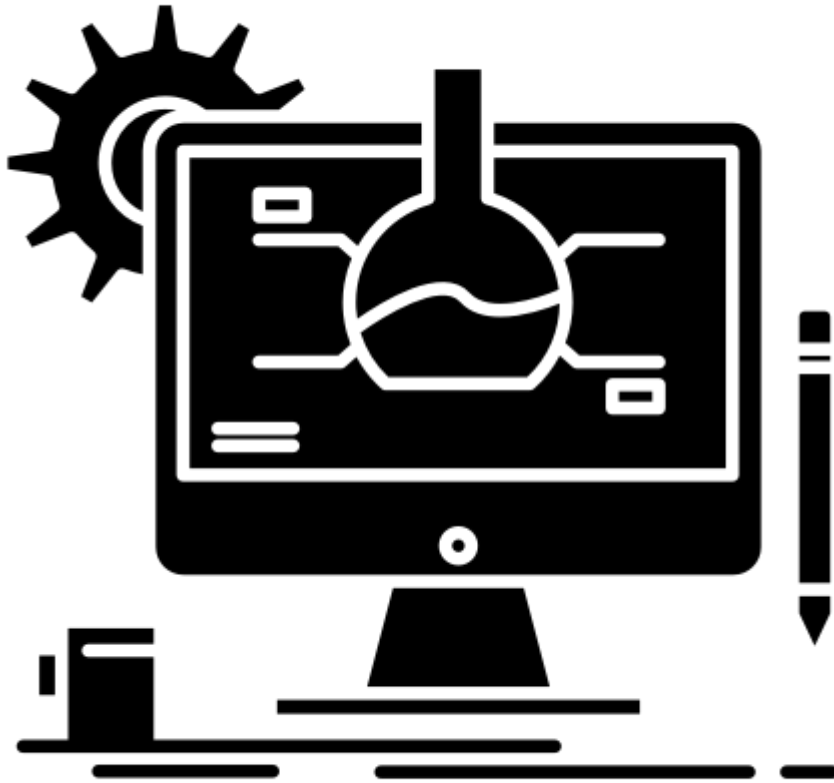

We will help you mobilise your workforce, your staff will be able to connect to e-mail and your network wherever they are, enabling better communication with colleagues and customers.

Data Network Solutions

We will analyse your business performance requirements, bandwidth, service level requirements and geographical distribution. Based on this we will design a data network that enables your offices to share critical resources and applications, with security, speed and reliability

Carriage Philosophy

Our Carriage division focuses on four areas to ensure the appropriate Telstra solution is deployed and maintained.

Assessment

We examine how a business can use Telstra solutions to perform better or reduce operational costs. We will review existing costs of a company's fixed telephony costs, or analyse a data network to determine whether the existing data solution is the desired configuration.

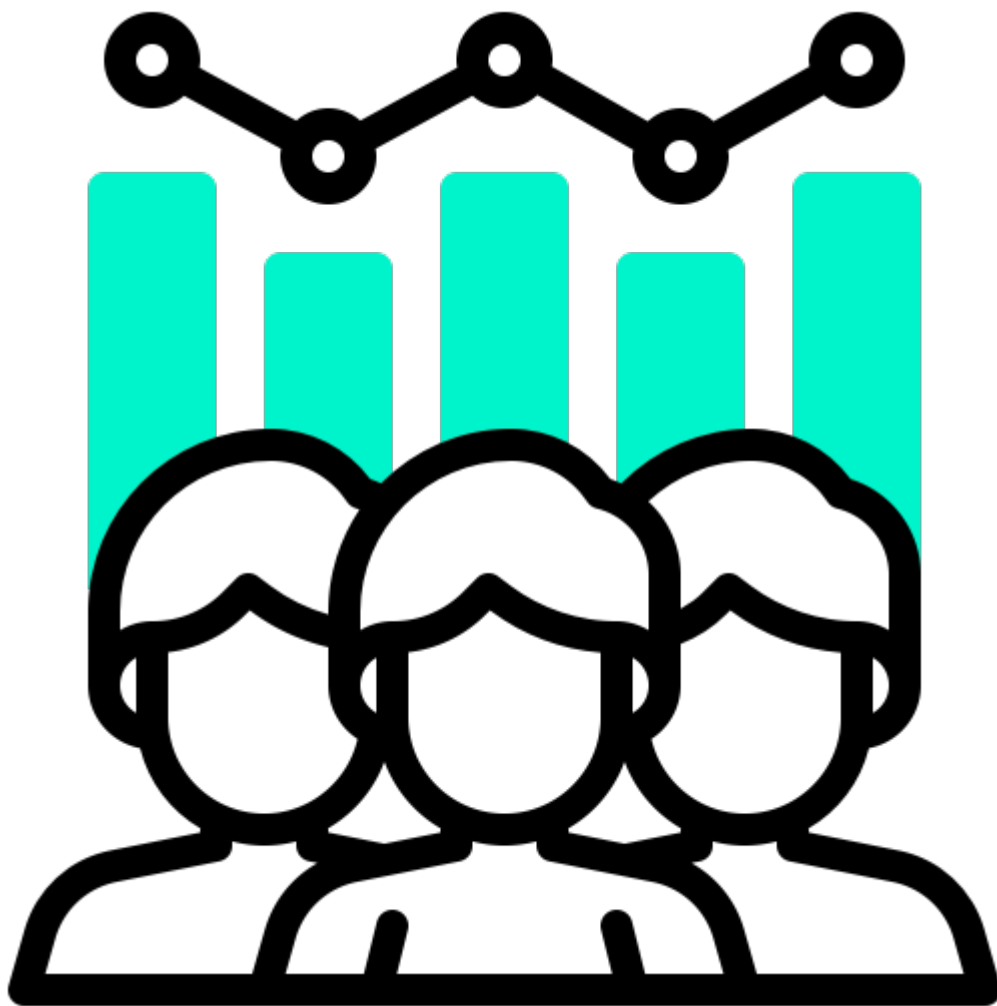

Design

Following our assessment, we will develop a tailored solution that provides the optimum combination of Telstra products. Our carriage specialists will design solutions that range from a simple tailored mobile plan through a nationwide, mission-critical data network.

Provisioning

Our experience in Telstra liaison and provisioning allows Evotec to efficiently and smoothly co-ordinate ordering and installation of Telstra services.

Account Management

We assume responsibility for ensuring a business continues to utilise appropriate Telstra solutions. We'll review new solutions and their application to a customer's business practices to determine whether cost savings or business improvements are possible.

"My day is usually quite hectic. Before Evotec I had to juggle all my various tasks in my mind throughout the day.

Evotec helped me get more organised, and now I simply get more done."
