

Evotec provides a Test and Tag service to ensure our customer's premises are safe and meet regulatory standards. It is vitally important that appliances in the workplace are tested regularly and employers have a legal responsibility to do so. Evotec makes Test and Tagging easy with our trained electrical engineers and enterprise standard appliance tester and our professional on-line site log system that allows the customer to view their Test and Tag history of any site online 24/7. We will visit each of your sites on a 6 or 12 monthly interval to carry out all required testing. Our records are stored and backed up securely on and off-site.